

DB Sales Brings HeatLink Hydronic Radiant Systems to Southern California

March 9, 2015 GARDEN GROVE, Calif. – DB Sales announces a new sales relationship with HeatLink®, a hydronic radiant systems based on circulating warm or cool water through loops of tubing.

Steve Mertz, president of DB Sales, said, “There is increasing interest in our southern California clients in installing high efficiency radiant heating and cooling systems, which have long been popular in the eastern U.S. HeatLink is the premier provider of these systems, and we are pleased to provide them to our clients. These systems provide excellent energy efficiency, and are now an emerging technology in LA.”

HeatLink® hydronic radiant systems are based on circulating warm or cool water through loops of PEX tubing. The most common applications for radiant systems are: floor warming, floor heating, and radiant heating and cooling systems.

DB Sales & Service is factory-authorized by HeatLink for sales, installation, and service. We will advise clients on the best product selection and installation method, depending on the building construction and application.

HeatLink has provided radiant heating systems for more than 20 years. Their well-engineered plumbing systems provide peace of mind for property owners through extensive warranty protection, and enable quick and efficient installations for builders and contractors.
